

Veteran's Day Message from Mayor Donna Pittman

As we observe Veteran's Day, let us pay tribute to the brave men and women in our nation's military who are presently serving and to all of those who have served in the past. Let us never forget that the freedoms we enjoy in this nation today were paid for by those who not only currently serve, but also those who made the ultimate sacrifice.

We owe all of our military personnel and their families, our deepest, ongoing gratitude. Let us pause to thank them for their selflessness and their service not just this Veteran's Day, but every day. As Mayor, I want to offer a special thank you to our Doraville citizens and employees that are serving and have served. You have our deepest appreciation and respect!

As American scholar Joseph Campbell aptly noted, "A hero is someone who has given his or her life to something bigger than oneself."

Never forget!
